

City facing $3.8 million budget; up 5.8 per cent

By ROBERT O. VINCENT
City Editor

Lompoc is looking at an estimated general fund budget of $3,775,615 for fiscal 1976-'77, up 5.8 per cent over the current year, members of the city council learned at an all-day work and study session Saturday.

There will be no tax rate increase to accommodate the estimated $207,596 in additional expenditure since taxing entities are precluded by SB 90 from hiking tax rates without a vote of the people except in cases of unusual growth requiring sizeable increases in services. This has not been the case in Lompoc, it was pointed out.

City Administrator Gene L. Wahlers did note to the council that the city staff will be bringing to them on April 20 a recommendation that the city increase the so-called bed tax on hotels and motels by one per cent effective July 1, following a similar action by the County Board of Supervisors and the Santa Barbara City Council.

There was 100 per cent attendance of department heads and council members at Saturday's session, held in the multipurpose room of Lompoc Public Library.

Although announced as a public session, only one citizen attended even part of the session. Two other press representatives attended briefly. The Record's representative was the only other person besides city staff to attend the entire meeting.

During the session, each department head presented either a verbal or audio-visual report on the work of his department, explaining the needs for the budget requests that had been made.

Department requests totaled $4,109,840 this year, but the figures had been pared to the $3,775,615 preliminary budget recommendation by the administrative staff prior to Saturday's session.

Wahlers outlined the estimated revenues for the coming year as follows:

|                          |             |
|--------------------------|-------------|
| Property tax             | $698,575   |
| Sales and use tax        | 680,000     |
| Other taxes              | 142,000     |
| State subventions        | 141,000     |
| Utility contributions    | 1,018,750   |
| Other fund contributions | 670,100     |
| Motor vehicle licenses   | 190,000     |
| Miscellaneous            | 207,320     |
| Total                    | $3,748,565 |

The estimated income plus an expected $353,222 balance at the end of this fiscal year will give the city $4,101,787 in available funds for the 1976-'77 fiscal year, which would leave a balance at the end of the next fiscal year of $326,172.

Estimated expenditures for 1976-'77 which include salaries, operation and maintenance and capital outlays where applicable, were estimated to be distributed as follows:

|                                 |             |
|---------------------------------|-------------|
| Council                         | $17,055    |

| Administrator                   | 55,280      |

Pro-Syrian guerrillas shore-up Lebanon's truce

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Pro-Syrian guerrillas, who left-wingers claim are Syrian troops in disguise, have seized a vital oil refinery and taken up key positions around Beirut to keep Lebanon's shaky truce from collapsing.

In parts of Lebanon, it was questionable whether the cease-fire, Lebanon's 27th since last April, had taken hold at all.

Another 48 persons were killed and 80 wounded Sunday in fighting in the countryside and in snipings and street slayings throughout the capital.

Nearly 16,000 persons have died in nearly a year of civil war between Christians and Moslems.

Heavy shelling nine miles southeast of Beirut battered both the left-wing stronghold of Aley and the neighboring Christian village of Kahhaleh.

East of the capital, Christian Phalangists said they were besieging two villages, Antoura and Mtein, which were captured by the left-wingers Saturday.

Acting without doubt on Syrian directives, the Saiga Palestinian guerrillas seized the Zaharani oil refinery at Sidon 30 miles south of the Beirut after taking up strategic positions in western Beirut and along roads leading into the capital.

Left-wing leader Kamal Jumblatt, after conferring with Palestinian guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat, charged they were really Syrian troops disguised as guerrillas and that they seized the refinery and other key facilities to cut off supplies to his forces.

Sadat arrives in Italy for economic aid confab

ROME, Italy (UPI) — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat arrived today for economic aid talks with Italian leaders and a meeting with Pope Paul VI on Jerusalem and the Palestinian problem.

Sadat flew to Rome from Paris after a second round of talks with French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing that focused on the Lebanese civil war.

He was met at Ciampino military airport by Italian President Giovanni Leone, his host for his three-day official visit. They helicoptered together to the Quirinale Palace, Leone's residence where Sadat and his wife are staying.

Heavy security measures were in force at Ciampino and officials privately said the eight-minute helicopter ride, ostensibly to avoid blocking traffic with a motorcade, also had security motivations.

Shortly after arriving at the Quirinale, Leone and Sadat reviewed a 90-man military honor guard in bricked courtyard within the fortress-like walls of the neoclassical palace.

Chinese mobs rampage in tribute to Chou

HONG KONG (UPI) — Angry mobs paying tribute to the late Premier Chou En-lai went on a rampage in Peking today in the worst outbreak of violence in almost a decade, according to witnesses.

It was reportedly the worst such outbreak since the chaotic Cultural Revolution almost a decade ago.

Residents of the capital said the mobs scuffled with police, soldiers and militiamen, and set fire to an army jeep, a bus and another vehicle in the city's massive Tian An Men (Gate of Heavenly Peace) Square.

When a fire truck arrived to put out one of the blazes, the mob swarmed over the vehicle and threw off equipment as onlookers cheered.

The fire truck put out one blaze, but made no attempt to approach the other burning vehicles, according to witnesses who reported the incidents by telephone to the UPI bureau in Hong Kong.

Political slogans, both shouted and written on banners and wreaths, appeared to connect the outbreak with the power struggle that has developed since Chou's death in January.

That struggle has centered on Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping, the man once expected to be Chou's successor and who delivered the eulogy at the Jan. 15 memorial service.

The incidents, which did not appear to be organized, broke out one day after crowds laid numerous wreaths in honor of Chou at a Martyrs' Monument in the square.

The occasion was Ching Ming, an ancient Chinese festival dedicated to the dead.

According to witnesses, "tens of thousands" of Chinese returning to the square early today found that security forces had cleared away all the wreaths and cordoned off the square.

Some restless crowd members broke through the cordons and rushed to the steps of the Great Hall of the People, the site of a final memorial service to Chou.

Some shouted for guards to open the doors. One group, which appeared to consist of students from Peking's Tsinghua University, apparently wanted to read or present a petition.

Scuffling broke out on the steps. One student was dragged to the Mar-

S.F. strike expanding

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Striking city workers halted school buses today, disrupting transportation for thousands of pupils who normally are bused.

Only 16 of the scheduled 100 buses left their yards this morning when pickets appeared at the gates in an escalation of the 6-day-old walkout of 1,900 craft union workers.

A spokesman for the San Francisco school district said the schools would remain open but that "we are only going to have limited bus service, and very few children will be picked up at the usual spots." Normally, about 16,000 children are bused to school.

School officials were urging parents to get their children to school by car pools.

The school bus drivers are employed by a charter company in contract with the school district. But, like the drivers of the city-operated transit system, most of them refused to cross the craft workers' picket lines.

The striking unions had threatened to escalate their strike in the wake of fruitless weekend negotiations.

But both sides agreed to further talks this afternoon.

A worsening of the city's already critical transportation situation was avoided when a midnight strike by San Francisco's 500 Yellow Cab drivers failed to take place.

The drivers had threatened to walk off the job in a long-simmering dispute over alleged delinquent fringe benefits, but instead returned to the streets.

The San Francisco Municipal Railway has been shut down during the dispute since its workers are among some 15,000 city employees staying off the job in support of 1,900 striking craft union workers.

The Municipal Railway employees have a contract but were striking, along with about 15,000 other workers, in support of 1,900 craft union workers. The Yellow Cab and city workers strikes were unrelated.

The municipal strike kept cable cars, playgrounds, museums and the zoo shut down.

Administration gives Kissinger confidence vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford's chief spokesman today gave Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger a renewed vote of confidence after Rogers C.B. Morton, Ford's top campaign official, suggested that Kissinger may be serving his final year at the State Department.

Morton touched off a stir in San Jose, Calif. Saturday when he told a group of Republicans that Kissinger will probably be replaced at the State Department if Ford wins election in November.

Press Secretary Ron Nessen today rejected any suggestion that Kissinger is being eased out of the administration.

Nessen said that Morton will be informed of Ford's statement made Saturday in Green Bay, Wis., that Kissinger can stay in office "as long as I am President."

Kissinger has been criticized by Ford's challenger for the GOP nomination, Ronald Reagan, and by several of the Democratic presidential hopefuls.

Truckers hit road as walkout ends

United Press International
Thousands of truckers have hit the road again, ending the first nationwide Teamsters strike and easing the economic impact of the three-day walkout.

"It would seem the majority of the drivers are back on the road," a Trucking Employers Inc. spokesman said Sunday. "But there are pockets that are still out."

More than half of the 400,000 Teamsters settled Friday for a tentative three-year contract calling for a 30 per cent pay increase and unlimited cost of living raises. TEL, the largest employers group, held out until Saturday before reaching tentative accord with the final 175,000 Teamsters.

During the strike, U.S. automakers announced plans to lay off nearly 20,000 workers because of parts shortages on assembly lines.

Even with the settlement, industry spokesmen said, the strike could have a ripple effect for at least another week.

Board votes picnic fees for Co. parks

On a three-to-two vote, the Santa Barbara County Board of Supervisors today approved a controversial proposal by the Parks Commission to charge a fee to large groups wishing to use county parks.

Fees ranging from $10 to $20 depending on the size of the groups will be assessed for organizations reserving large areas of county parks.

The measure was opposed by Supervisors Francis Beattie and Harrell Fletcher.

AND NOW IT'S H Street's turn. Construction crews moved their equipment to South H Street early this morning to begin the ripping and tearing of the streets and sidewalks to complete the downtown revitalization program prior to the Flower Festival. I Street is now open to traffic.

Feasibility study report given board on split of county

By DICK PRAUL
County reporter

The report as to the feasibility of splitting Santa Barbara County was handed to the board of supervisors late this morning.

Supervisor Harrell Fletcher, who had said such a split might be advantageous to both north and south county areas, commented that the report will lead to taxpayer savings regardless of the partition question.

As to the partition question, Fletcher said that the report will give the public the information it needs to make a decision on "this extremely complex question."

Fletcher praised the office of county auditor-controller Paul Floyd for assisting and said the voluminous report is "of great value."

Fletcher's statement follows:

"When I assumed the office of county supervisor I pledged to myself two things: 1) that I would never compromise my integrity; 2) that I would make my office open to all people of Santa Barbara County making any and all information I obtained available to them for their consideration. Out of necessity due to the scope of the study the feasibility report on the possible partition of Santa Barbara County has been long in preparation and contains extremely valuable and detailed information. This study was not conducted for me to decide whether or not to split the county.

"It was conducted to give the public information necessary to make an extremely difficult decision on an extremely complex question.

"I have never promised to split the county, but I have promised to give you the information necessary to make that decision independent of my opinion.

"Today, with this report, I have kept my promise regardless of whether or not the public decides to partition Santa Barbara County, the feasibility report is of great value.

"It was extremely educational not only for me a relative newcomer but for the various department heads.

"It was the first time some of them had analyzed their departments in this depth and I am sure they have found areas where improvements in service can be obtained. Also as a direct benefit of this report, savings to the taxpayers can be made in the next budget year independent of the partition question.

"In fire protection services, the study has shown that if this in-depth analysis had been available to the previous board, it may have opted for not decreasing the firefighters' work week but paying for overtime. This study shows that the option of paying overtime instead of decreasing the work week would have generated a savings of $300,000. Another area in fire protection where considerable savings can be generated is in relation to our watershed protection contract with the State of California. If renegotiated on the basis of our actual cost, which by signed contract we are entitled to, we could conceivably benefit the taxpayer by about $150,000 next year alone.

"This study also shows that our charges to other agencies to hold prisoners in our county jail were not reflective of our true costs. We are presently charging other agencies approximately $20 per day when actually costs are approximately $30.

"A level of service is another area the board must grapple with. There have been statements that Santa Barbara County is overstaffed and gold-plated. The public must decide what level of service is adequate for its needs. As you may ascertain from the auditor-controller's report, there is a lot of room for differences of opinion as to what level of service is desirable. What government should provide is only that level of service that is required and authorized by the public. It is apparent, in comparing the proposed north county staffing and the actual staffing of Merced County, that two different levels of service are perceived.

"I wish to express my appreciation and admiration to Paul Floyd and his staff and in particular Bill Parsons, Floyd's assistant, who worked so diligently on this monumental study. The study is totally objective and extremely well done. The ultimate decision is in the hands of the taxpayer where it rightfully belongs."

Supervisors accepted the feasibility study, which, it was emphasized, takes no position on a county split and shows no possible tax rates.

Presumably the next step will be up to proponents of the split to determine whether, on the basis of the report, they want to circulate the necessary petitions to put the measure on the ballot.

Gridiron dinner and roasting, at which Ford was guest of honor, then upstaged the President Sunday morning.

Out early, he said, to show his daughter the White House and the Washington Monument. Carter crossed in front of St. John's church minutes before the President was to arrive for services.

He distracted a share of the Ford spectators, reporters and photographers as he crossed to Lafayette Square and held an informal news conference.

When Ford arrived a reporter told him, "Jimmy Carter was just here."

Ford replied, "Yes, I heard."

Carter told reporters he was happy with his showings in weekend party caucuses in Virginia and Kansas, where he ran behind uncommitted delegate candidates but well ahead of all others.

Carter, Udall seeking last undecided New York votes

United Press International
Democratic candidates Jimmy Carter and Morris Udall searched out the last few undecided votes before Tuesday's primary in Wisconsin. Henry Jackson ignored Wisconsin to concentrate on the "landslide victory" he expected in New York.

The fourth major Democratic contender in Wisconsin, George Wallace, cut short his campaigning and appealed for votes from his home in Alabama.

President Ford rested at home Sunday after two days in the dairy state. Ronald Reagan's Wisconsin supporters used radio and television spots to promote their absent candidate, who was headed today for personal campaigning in Texas.

Carter spent Saturday night in Washington to attend the annual Participating in the presentation of reports were J.D. Smith, chief of police, Doug Spickard, fire chief, Jack Lam, community development director, Ric Rea, general services, Bob Livingston, fiscal services, Barry Gustafson, public works and Jack Anderson, parks and recreation.

Wahlers emphasized that the income figures are estimates only and that the city will have to watch what actually happens in order to keep expenditures in line with what comes in.

He said that there is $120,000 in revenue sharing in the budget for the current year plus $250,000 not yet spent. The future of revenue sharing is unsure, he said, and so the budget has been prepared without it so that any funds coming in would be a bonus to the city.

The estimated amount of Community Development Block Grant funds that the city will receive is $300,000 in 1976-77. Actual entitlement is estimated at $370,000, but based on previous experience, that amount can be expected to drop by as much as 20 per cent before the money is received.

It was reported by Wahlers that on the senior citizen facility, negotiations are continuing for a building to be used for this purpose. One offer has been made but it was felt to be unacceptable and the building committee assigned to study this and a possible civic center complex is awaiting another offer. Some funds are available for a city hall, it was pointed out, and the city could proceed but needs to examine the situation carefully, Wahlers said.

Mayor E.C. Stevens asked the council to reaffirm that a senior citizen center has top priority for block grant funds, and if so to pursue the rapid culmination of the project.

On another matter, City Attorney Alan Davidson said he feels that the city is going to need to hire a water expert to represent the council at hear-notice it wants a 15 per cent wage hike for county employees and/or an extra $60 for each two-week pay period, along with increased fringe benefits.

Social Services Union Local 535 (AFL-CIO) is asking for a "reasonable" $65 per month wage boost for its members plus another three per cent increase, in a move designed to fit in with Gov. Brown's proposals for wage boost ceilings for state employees, a union agent said.

Gill said his office hasn't heard anything yet from the other employee groups — the County Deputy Sheriff's Assn., the County Deputy County Counsel's Assn., and the County Government Attorney's Assn.

Employee groups which have thus far submitted pay boost requests to the county have pointed out that their cost of living has undergone another hefty rise in the past year, as shown by the consumer price index for this year.

Feminists expand

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Feminist Kate Millet says the women's liberation movement has expanded from the demand for equal pay to the fight against rape and wife-beating.

"We're becoming increasingly absorbed with the use of force against women," Ms. Millet said. "I think we're getting finally to the real nitty gritty, to the real ugliness of oppression."

Ms. Millet, who gained national attention with the publication of her book, "Sexual Politics" in 1970, was in Kansas City to participate in a conference on the women's movement at the University of Missouri.

No decision yet on Adam's double duty

County Counsel George Kading indicated today it will be a "while yet" before his office is able to render an opinion in the case of County Planning Commissioner John F. Adam Jr., of Santa Maria.

Kading's office was called on to make a decision as to whether Adam could still qualify to be a member of the Planning Commission of the county while serving as a member of Santa Maria City Council. He was elected to the City Council in March and hopes to remain on the planning commission as well.

The county counsel's office is studying the case to determine if there is any conflict of interest due to overlapping of responsibilities. The only possible overlap involves General Plan responsibilities, it has been learned, and this may prove to be no conflict, either.

Adam is continuing to serve as one of the two Fifth District representatives on the commission while Deputy County Counsel Susan Trescher, counsel to the commission, continues research in the case.

Nuclear power legislative package set for debate

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A controversial legislative package which could decide the future of nuclear power plants in California was scheduled for debate today in the Assembly.

The three-bill package was set for a special order of business and a vote was expected.

"It will be very close," said Assemblyman Charles Warren, D-Los Angeles, a leading proponent of the legislative package. "I don't know if we have 41 votes."

Basically, two of the bills (AB2820-22) would prevent the construction of new nuclear power plants in California until methods to dispose of and reuse nuclear wastes are improved.

A third bill (AB2821) would put a moratorium on the construction of such plants until the state Energy Commission completes a study of the feasibility of placing nuclear reactors underground.

The measures would not affect power plants already under construction.

Warren, chairman of the Resources, Land Use and Energy Committee, said he was "pessimistic" about the bills' chances of passing the Assembly.

He said "raw political power" was being asserted to defeat the bills, which supporters argue are an alternative to the Nuclear Power Plants Initiative, Prop. 15.

The June 8 ballot measure would go much further than the legislation. For example, the initiative would require the legislature to certify by a two-thirds margin the adequacy of reactor safety systems. It would also force the phase-out of existing plants unless all safety conditions were met.

Warren said organized labor, primarily building and trades unions, have been pressing Democrats to oppose the legislation while the nuclear industry has been lobbying Republicans.

The Senate this week again faces the sticky problem of providing money for the financially sidelined Agricultural Labor Relations Board.

Senate Democratic Floor Leader David Roberti of Los Angeles said it would be "difficult but possible" to get the Assembly-passed $2.5 million emergency appropriation bill (AB2886) through the Senate.

A similar Brown administration bill for $3.8 million was rejected by the Senate in January. The board since Feb. 6 has been financially unable to carry out farmworkers' elections and investigate charges of unfair labor practices.

Senators last week defeated an amendment to the bill which would have stripped the board of its secret ballot election duties.

The Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee will take another look at Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.'s proposed tax break for the working poor Wednesday.

The measure (AB2972) was earlier held in the committee when it was discovered that wealthy as well as the poor would benefit from the tax break. It would have eliminated state taxes for individuals with a gross annual income of less than $5,000 and married couples making $10,000 or less.

Currently, single persons earning up to $4,000 a year and couples receiving $8,000 a year do not have to pay state income taxes.

Assemblyman Daniel Boatwright, D-Concord, who is carrying the bill for Brown, said original language in the bill would have allowed a married couple making $33,000 a year to adjust their income below $10,000 and pay no state income taxes.

Sadat cancels Russ right to use ports

PARIS (UPI) — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat says he has canceled the Soviet navy's right to use Egyptian ports and warns of "a dangerous situation" if the Soviets set up a base in neighboring Libya.

Sadat told members of the Egyptian community in Paris Sunday his order to cancel the use of the naval facilities resulted from his decision March 14 to end Egypt's friendship treaty with Russia.

Relations between the two countries deteriorated after Moscow refused to sell Egypt new weapons or postpone its debt payments.

Sadat, touring Europe in part to seek new arms sources, said he decided to deny the Soviets rights to all Red Sea and Mediterranean ports when they tried to put "military and economic pressure" on his regime.

Sadat also said the Soviets asked India — which has Soviet military equipment — not to deliver spare parts to Egypt.

"I had to take the necessary measures," he said.

At a news conference later, Sadat warned that Moscow, deprived of influence in Egypt, might be trying to gain a military foothold in Libya.

He said Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy, Sadat's bitter foe, had concluded a deal with Moscow for delivery of $11 billion in sophisticated military hardware.

"I am not afraid of Khadafy," Sadat said. "But if the Soviet Union gets a base there, it would create a dangerous situation, and I would have to go over my plans all over again."

He said Egypt, which in the past had trained Libyan troops, knew well the latter were unable to use the Soviet hardware.

"Who will then use these weapons along this 2,000 kilometer (1,240 mile) long coast?" of Libya, he asked.

The Egyptian leader also called for the first time for the resignation of Lebanon's President Suleiman Franjeh, as demanded by Lebanese left-wingers to end 11 months of civil war.

CRA endorses Reagan's bid

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — The conservative California Republican Assembly, a 10,000-member volunteer organization, has endorsed the Presidential bid of former Gov. Ronald Reagan.

CRA President Truman Campbell said the vote was about 260-15. The balloting came Sunday at the end of the CRA's convention.

The organization endorsed Reagan's successful gubernatorial bids in 1966 and 1970.

"The failure to get the CRA endorsement would have been a substantial setback for Reagan," Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-Ill., his convention representative, said after the voting.

A CRA fact-finding committee also pledged that the assembly would support President Ford if he beats Reagan at the GOP convention.

Crane drew prolonged applause when he continued Reagan's attacks on Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. The congressman said that, if Reagan had been President, Kissinger — rather than former Defense Secretary James Schlesinger — would have been fired.

Kissinger "has ill-served the cause of freedom worldwide" and "he has ill-served the Republican party domestically," Crane said.

Surprise storm hits So. Calif.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A surprising storm darkened Southern California skies during the weekend dumping snow in the mountains and snarling traffic navigating over rain-slick freeways and through flooded intersections.

Up to three inches of new snow dusted mountain areas above 4,000 feet. However, the California Highway Patrol said no road closures were necessary.

A CHP dispatcher in Newhall said officers escorted vehicles over Interstate 5 Saturday night from the San Fernando Valley through Gorman because of about an inch of snow on the highway. Round robin escorts also convoyed vehicles over Highway 14 to Palmdale.

Low-lying intersections in the San Fernando Valley flooded with up to a foot of water from runoff. All roads were passable however.

The Hollywood and Golden State Freeways were congested Saturday evening with motorists slowing during a heavy downpour.

The storm was blamed for several power outages in the communities of Bell, Glendale, South Pasadena, Maywood, Hawthorne and Covina.

Lightning struck a transformer in Bell Saturday night blacking out about 500 homes for more than an hour. A tree branch knocked out power to about 380 homes in Glendale.

Soliah prosecution to begin today

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Prosecutors in the bank robbery trial of Steven Soliah say they will begin introducing physical evidence this week in an effort to tie the former lover of Patricia Hearst to a Symbionese Liberation Army-linked bank robbery.

U.S. Attorney Dwayne Keyes said he would try to tie Soliah, 27, to the holdup by producing evidence taken from the San Francisco apartment the defendant shared with Miss Hearst before her arrest.

'Sunny Jim' Callaghan new prime minister of Britain

LONDON (UPI) — James "Sunny Jim" Callaghan today won election as Britain's 69th prime minister and thereby became the man charged with pulling the nation out of its unprecedented economic decline.

Callaghan, foreign secretary since 1974, defeated Employment Secretary Michael Foot 176 to 137 in the third ballot among the ruling Labor party's members of parliament since Harold Wilson announced his resignation March 16.

Wilson was to go almost immediately to Buckingham Palace to make official his departure with Callaghan to be summoned shortly thereafter for his royal appointment as Labor party leader and chief of government.

He scheduled a nationally televised address for sometime after 9 p.m. (1 p.m. PST).

Callaghan, 64, is an up-from-the-ranks politician who never went to college. A big, happy man he is the first prime minister ever to have served previously as foreign secretary, home secretary and chancellor of the exchequer, or treasurer.

He is known to his colleagues as a hard worker — early to bed, early to rise. He has both the influence and is capable of maintaining party voting discipline in view of Labor's lack of a clear majority in Parliament.

A middle-of-the-road politician, he is expected to steer a course similar to that of Wilson — attempting to preserve the socialist state and its Labor grass roots while encouraging private enterprise as well.

The task he faces is to pull Britain out of an economic slide that has inflation at 18 per cent, unemployment at 1.25 million and the pound sterling hovering at record low levels, at $1.872.

Coed dies; 40 hurt in Skidmore blaze

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (UPI) — Fire of undetermined origin in a three-story "fire-proof" dormitory at Skidmore College killed one coed early today and injured at least 40 other students.

A number of students jumped from windows rather than try to escape through smoke-filled hallways. Others used bedsheets to lower themselves to the ground. Most were clad in nightclothes and robes.

The dead student was identified as Jody Smith, 20, of Harrisburg, Pa., a junior.

Listed in critical condition at Saratoga Hospital was Joanne Handler, 18, of Manhattan, a sophomore. Rosanne M. Miller, 18, a freshman from Newton Center, Mass., and two others, identified only as Susan Miller of Wayne, N.J., and Karen Lichtman, of the Poughkeepsie area, were listed in serious condition.

A hospital spokesman said a total of 23 students had been admitted, most for treatment of smoke inhalation. At least 70 persons had been examined for possible shock or other injuries.

The fire was in three-story Wilmarth Hall, a dormitory of brick and glass opened in 1966. It was one of the older buildings on Skidmore's new campus.

The dead girl lived on the first floor, where the fire was believed to have started, and her body was found in her room, according to Alvin Barney, chief of campus police.

Prince Sihanouk resigns as chief in Cambodia

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk has resigned as Cambodia's chief of state, official radio broadcasts said today.

Sihanouk stepped down Sunday, according to broadcasts monitored in Bangkok.

In a farewell speech to the nation, the 53-year-old prince said "that everywhere and under all circumstances, I will remain a valiant supporter of the Cambodian people, the revolution ... and the splendid revolutionary army of Democratic Cambodia."

Deputy Prime Minister Khieu Samphan, in accepting the resignation, said Sihanouk will live forever in Cambodia, and a large statue of the prince will be erected, presumably in Phnom Penh.

He said Sihanouk would be given an annual pension of $8,000.

The prince's resignation did not come as a complete surprise to Cambodia watchers.

Rumors began circulating last spring that Sihanouk, who returned to Phnom Penh after the Communist victory April 17, was dissatisfied with the new government.

Sihanouk supporters said the prince was appalled at the suffering of Cambodians under the new government and saddened by the transformation of the country into a totalitarian state.

Court denies Calley hearing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today denied a hearing to former Army Lt. William L. Calley Jr., convicted by court-martial of the murder in 1968 of 22 South Vietnamese civilians at My Lai.

The court in a brief order turned down his appeal from a decision by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals rejecting all his claims to an unfair trial. He had argued, among other things, that prejudicial publicity hurt him.

Calley has been free on bond while he pursued appeals in civilian courts. The Army has said it intends to parole him on his return to military custody.

Auto industry sees effects of walkout

DETROIT (UPI) — Auto industry spokesmen say the three-day Teamsters strike that ended Saturday will have a ripple effect through the industry for at least another week.

Before the tentative agreement was reached, American Motors and General Motors announced plans last week to close five plants — a move that would have affected nearly 20,000 workers.

However, American Motors decided to keep its plants open in the wake of the settlement and GM modified its earlier plans when the parts that feed the assembly lines began moving into the plants.

AMC canceled the closing of plants in Milwaukee and Kenosha, Wis., and Brampton, Ont. All 11,000 employees at those facilities were ordered to report today.

GM ordered 2,300 workers on one assembly line at its Chevrolet truck assembly plant in Flint, Mich., to report for their full shift today. The line was cut back to four hours Friday.

But a spokesman said the GMC truck and coach plant in Pontiac, Mich., closed Friday, would remain shut down today. Company officials said they were not sure immediately when the 5,600 workers could report for work again.

"The Pontiac plant is the only one that will be down," the spokesman said Sunday. "We'll have to see how things go Monday and Tuesday before deciding what other actions are needed."

Awards dinner is club highlight

Village Country Club was scene of the festivity for Jr. Alpha Club members and guests at the annual awards presentation dinner and installation of officers. Sherry (Mrs. Gary) Stendahl, retiring president, introduced Mayor Eugene C. Stevens as the guest speaker. Reviewing current civic improvements and plans for the future, he left the audience pondering over what they as citizens of a small but fast-growing community could do to help not only the town, but themselves to grow.

President Stendahl then introduced Ms. Susan Duey, membership chairwoman, who initiated three new members: Ms. Cathy Hart, Ms. Reyna Garcia and Judy (Mrs. Rodger) Evans, presenting their official pins, flowers and Jr. Alpha notebooks.

Assisting Bonnie (Mrs. Darrell)

Gabel, Alpha Club coordinator with the officer installation. Mrs. Stendahl presented each with a carnation in a color denoting her office. Freddie (Mrs. Ron) Farmer was named coordinator, her flower violet, denoting wisdom.

To Ms. Marge Phillips, treasurer, went a gold carnation denoting dependability. To Ms. Ruth Edmonds, corresponding secretary, pink carnation for understanding. To Ms. Judy Evans, recording secretary, a red carnation for alertness and faithfulness. Ms. Susan Duey, third vice president, a green carnation denoting life and growth for Federation. To Ms. Rosanne Klein, second vice president, a yellow bloom for encouragement of fellow members and club projects. To Mary Jo Jacobs, vice president, a blue carnation for responsibility. The new president Sharon (Mrs. Doug) Spickard received a white carnation.

tion for leadership. Each was asked to place their flower on the Jr. Alpha "tree of life," a manzanita branch.

President Spickard was then presented with an arm bouquet of roses and a gift from the new board members. A fun gift was an unfinished hooked rug embroidered "Juniors, Do It 1976-1977."

A few highlights of the evening were the awards to members themselves. Lucy (Mrs. Michael) Lee presented a framed photograph of the first bicentennial fire hydrant to Norma (Mrs. Loren) Harrison "Citizen of the Year," whose bicentennial project included painting of 20 street hydrants to represent historic characters. For her "outstanding project," she was also given a ceramic miniature of a hydrant.

Perfect attendance awards went to Norma Lucy Sharon Sherry Freddie, Mary Jo, Marge and Cindy (Mrs. James) Long.

The president's award for "outstanding first year member" went to new girls Martie (Mrs. Tony) Geanopoulos and Mary Jo Jacobs. To Bonnie Gabel, last year's club coordinator, went the "most support to the president" award.

As retiring president, Sherry was given a silver tray, a potted begonia plant and plant care book. In appreciation for the support and friendship of Alpha Club, she in turn presented a gift to its representative, Joann Garman, fourth vice president — a painting of Alpha Clubhouse commissioned by a talented Lompoc artist — Dennis Jory.

Marty Geanopoulos, Jr. Alpha press chairwoman, presented Hallmark desk pens and individual verses of appreciation to Betty Laurent and Natalie Arnold, representatives of the Lompoc Record and Santa Barbara News Press.

Dear Abby

Catholics endorse the Living Will

DEAR READERS: As I have stated in a previous column, I have signed The Living Will. It is simply a document that a person signs stating that he does not want to have his life prolonged artificially after his physician decides that there is no reasonable hope for recovery. I have given copies of this document to my physician, lawyer, clergyman and to members of my family.

On February 23rd I published the official Jewish view on the right to die with dignity submitted by Rabbi Bernard S. Raskas. On March 15 I published a statement from the Rev. Norman Vincent Pease concerning the Protestant view.

The following letter was received from the Most Rev. Fulton J. Sheen:

My dear Abby: What a joy it was to hear from you, having not had the pleasure of seeing you for such a long while!

In answer to your question, "What is the official Catholic view on the right to die with dignity?" it is not necessary to use extraordinary, artificial means to keep a person alive.

Wishing you every blessing, and with the warmest of personal greetings, I am, Sincerely yours in our Lord, FULTON J. SHEEN

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and considered very pretty. I am going steady with a great guy who is 32. We really love each other, and he wants to marry me. The problem is, he is very bald and my mother told me that bald men are always unfaithful to their wives.

HEIDI

DEAR HEIDI: If you love him — marry him. Most bald men started fooling around when they HAD hair.

DEAR ABBY: Last weekend I was a bridesmaid at the wedding of a close friend.

When it came time for the bride to throw her bouquet, the photographer lined up all the bridesmaids for a picture of the memorable moment. Well, the bride threw her bouquet directly to her younger sister (the maid of honor), and dumb me reached in front of her and intercepted it! Everyone was horrified — especially the bride and her sister.

I suppose I should have known better, but I honestly did it without thinking.

Abby, if the bride wants a certain person to have the bouquet, why bother tossing it? Why not just hand it to her?

I've been severely criticized for what I did, but I honestly did it without thinking. Was I wrong?

SORRY IN ALABAMA

DEAR SORRY: Forget it. You acted on impulse.

DEAR ABBY: I have a suggestion for the mother of that nut who is suing her for $100,000 for his circumcision. She should countersue for back womb rent.

Sign me,

C.K. IN ST. CHARLES

DEAR ABBY: My trouble is my marriage. Two years ago I lied to my husband about a phone call. When he walked into the house, I was talking to my mother long-distance. I told him that she had called me, but actually I had called HER. When he got the phone bill, he knew I had lied. He became very angry, and I have been paying for it ever since.

Shortly after that, our sex life stopped altogether. He said, "You've got about as much sex appeal as a 50-gallon drum." (He said that because I was overweight). He said when I got down to normal size, our sex life would start again. Well, I put my mind to it and I lost 58 pounds. I thought I looked pretty good, but after we had sex once, he said I was still too fat!

He still says he can't make love to a liar. (The long-distance phone call). But I can't live without love, and I don't think it's fair to be punished for one lie I told two years ago. What should I do? My husband is a regular Army man.

UNLOVED

DEAR UNLOVED: Something is drastically wrong, and it's not your weight or a lie you told two years ago. Army families can get free counseling from the chaplain on the base. Go! Your Army man is marching to the wrong drum.

Holeman-Carter vows said

Couple will live in National City

Miss Valerie Anne Holeman and Patrick Louis Carter exchanged their marriage vows the afternoon of March 27 at a double ring ceremony in Chapel 1, Vandenberg AFB. Chaplain K.E. Nelson was the officiant. Guests numbered approximately 125.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Handsel Holeman, 244 Vega Ave., Vandenberg Village, and Frank G. Perrelli of New Haven, Conn. The bridegroom's parents are Col. (Ret.) and Mrs. Robert F. Carter, 116 Inverness Ave.

Escorted by her stepfather, the bride wore a wedding gown of satin styled with princess waistline, the bodice of Chantilly galloon lace featuring a scooped neckline and lace collar. The long tapered sleeves were fastened at the wrist with small pearl buttons. Her train and veil were of clipped Chantilly galloon lace, the veil trimmed with Venice lace and pearls. At her throat, the bride wore her mother's pearls. Lace trimmed her nosegay of yellow roses, baby's breath, peach carnations with satin and lace ribbons.

In her role as honor maid Miss Linda Peterson wore a long gown of beige cotton seersucker in Betsy Ross bicentennial print of yellow-gold and peach roses. The empire styled bodice featured a square neckline and puffed sleeves, and the full skirt featured flounces. Yellow-gold carnations and baby's breath of peach made her nosegay.

The Misses Amanda and Barbara Holeman served their sister as bridesmaids. Miss Wendy Sousa, her cousin, as flower girl. Jan Corser was the nuptial organist.

Robert F. Carter Jr. of San Diego was his brother's best man. Ushers were F. Richard Perrelli, brother of the bride, and Richard K. Snoddy, her uncle.

Vandenberg NCO Club was scene of the wedding reception where the bride's grandmother Mrs. Nell Snoddy attended the guestbook. Mrs. Peter Sousa of Ventura, aunt of the bride, served the wedding cake. Miss Brenda Sousa of Ventura, her cousin, poured the punch. Wedding bells and streamers decorated the ballroom entrance and the chandeliers. Loaned by the bridegroom's mother were two lace tablecloths, one made by his grandmother. Flanking the three tiered wedding cake iced in peach and white, were silver candelabra and floral arrangements of white orchids, mums, peach and gold carnations.

For her daughter's wedding day Mrs. Holeman wore a long gown of aquamarine blue with butterfly sleeves, empire waist and pearl accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a pale grey satin ensemble deepening into shade of smoke grey, accented with crystal earrings and necklace. Both mothers and grandmothers of the bride and groom wore corsages of white carnations and baby's breath. On the couple's brief wedding trip to Shell Beach the bride wore a brushed cotton-polyester pantsuit of soft rose-beige with matching eskit and blouse, and a double gold cymbidium corsage.

A graduate of Cabrillo High School class of '75, she has been employed by Lompoc Valley Cleaners. Now serving in the United States Navy stationed at San Diego, her husband is a 1973 graduate of Cabrillo High and attended Allan Hancock College. The couple will live in National City.

Solvang may get movie theater

After an absence of one for 14 years, Solvang may once again have a movie theater.

This was revealed at a meeting of the board of directors of the Solvang Municipal Improvement District when Gerard Bradley, part owner of Denmark Square at the corner of Mission Drive and Alisal Road, announced that four families were ready to launch a 250-seat theatre operation on the second floor of the Denmark Square building.

Bradley said whether the theater becomes a reality or not would depend on a SMID decision to amend the Parking District ordinance. Bradley pointed out that the square complex now pays its share of district taxes for 25 parking spaces.

Should the theater, which will be used at night only, be assessed for 35 to 40 more spaces at an estimated additional cost of $5,000, the theater project would not be financially feasible, Bradley said.

In view of the fact that the spaces would be used only at night, it was Bradley's contention that some relief to the ordinance schedule should be made.

District manager Leo Mathiasen commented that night use by the theater patrons would not compete for district parking spaces. Director Thomas G. Nielsen called for more study on the request.

The board tentatively set April 22 as the time for an informal meeting to hear input on any proposed ordinance change.

Proprietors of the new theater will be Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Ott of Rancho Alisal; their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Joel Reims of Beverly Hills who will be moving to Rancho Alisal; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Ott Jr. of Los Angeles, who contemplate residing in the valley and Mr. and Mrs. David Hayton of Beverly Hills.

Ott Sr. was formerly on the faculty of UCLA Medical School and Dr. Reims is a dentist. Hayton is an attorney and was among those who helped with the chartering of the Danish-American Chamber of Commerce.

The new motion picture facility will be known as the Tivoli Theater.

Solvang's first and only movie house was built in 1927 by the late Hans Kundsens along Alisal Road near Coepnphagen Drive.

Kundsens operated it for a short time. It was first known as the Solvang Theater and later the Mission Theater. The late Axel Nielsen assumed ownership of the theater from Kundsens and for most of the period extending to 1962 was theater operator.

At various times and after World War II it was managed by others, including Carroll Nelson.

During filmdom's heyday before the advent of television, the theater drew good audiences on Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday and Sunday nights and Saturday matinee schedule.

However, the arrival of television cut into the attendance of the little theater — it could have seated about 200 people — and soon the movie schedule was cut down to three nights and a Saturday matinee a week.

Ticket sales continued to dip in the early 60s and it was at this time that Nielsen decided to close the movie and sell the property.

The theater building was extensively remodeled to make way originally for a restaurant and a number of shops. The building no longer contains an eating place and is devoted to shops designed principally for the tourist trade.

In noting plans for the new theater, Mrs. Theodore Ott said she felt the introduction of the movie theater to the Solvang scene would be particularly welcomed by the host of visitors who come to Solvang each year as well as residents of the valley.

School sets open house

In observance of Public Schools Month, the Jonata School in Buellton will be the setting for an open house and program. Tuesday night beginning at 7 o'clock.

The Jonata School, according to Supt. Richard O. Johnson, will be the first of Valley schools to stage Public Schools Week observances.

Public Schools Week, which has been a Masonic Lodge-sponsored tradition since 1920, has as its theme DENMARK SQUARE in Solvang, a complex of shops along Mission Drive at Alisal Road soon may be the home of a new movie theater. Plans have been revealed for the start of the Tivoli Theater on the second floor of the building. The new theater will seat 250. Solvang has been without a theater since 1962 when the Mission Theater, first opened in 1927, closed its doors.

Low income drivers offered free tuneups

If you are in a low income family and if your car needs a tuneup, contact the Advocacy Program Center at 1745 Mission Drive, Solvang.

As part of a nationwide effort to save fuel energy, the center will offer a limit of 20 free tuneups to those who are found eligible following a screening of their applications. The program was launched in the belief that a well-tuned car consumes less gasoline.

In addition to the 20 tuneups, the project will also include 10 free front end alignments and 10 free brake adjustments. All of the work will be performed by Ralph Zavala at his Arco Station in Los Olivos.

The tuneup, front end alignment and brake project is part of a countywide Community Action program. Applications from the valley may be made with Diane Romero at the Advocacy Center office.

this year "Public Schools — Our Future."

Other schools in the Valley schedule their Public Schools Month program following the Easter vacation.

A choral reading of "Our Country Is of Thee," will be offered by the intermediate grades, while the band will play "America the Beautiful," "Sandpaper," and "Command March."

Further talks due on water pact

Further discussion on a water rights exchange agreement between the Solvang Municipal Improvement District and Improvement District No. 1 of the Santa Ynez River Water Conservation District is needed. SMID directors agreed at a meeting last week.

A draft of points covered in the agreement was received by the board in a "memorandum of understanding." Directors agreed that the matter "will take a little more time to proceed" and suggested SMID Manager Leo Mathiasen set up a date for a meeting of the two boards.

It was reported that

Mathiasen had met March 29 with William Reelfs of Chalk Hill Development Co. on plans for creating a 450,000 water storage reservoir and pipeline project in the district's Zone 2 area which includes the Chalk Hill sector.

It was learned that Harold Purdy, senior design engineer for the county transportation department, will attend a SMID meeting this Thursday at 7:30 p.m. to present information on moving the Chalk Hill Road Improvement project westerly at the creek crossing as requested by residents of the area at a public informational meeting March 25.

Purdy will give cost estimates on a change in the path of the road to a more westerly direction.

The board discussed the possible purchase of concrete tables and benches for the Solvang Town Park. Mathiasen told the board the park area was bereft of tables and benches and suggested the concrete tables rather than wooden because of the former's less vulnerability to vandalism.

Directors referred to the sewer committee a report regarding the joint powers agreement between SMID and the Santa Ynez Community Services District.

Pig is prize

As a means of financing its "emergency fund," the Santa Ynez Valley Neighborhood Council is offering a 200 pound pig as a prize in a ticket sale now under way throughout the community.

According to Diane Romero, director of the Advocacy Program Center in Solvang, the council's "Emergency fund" provides those in need with food and medical and other services.

Tickets are $1 each by donation and may be obtained at the Advocacy Center office at 1745 Mission Drive, Solvang, or at El Rancho Market, Santa Ynez.

Winner of the pig will be announced April 17.

Substitute fete

Plans to stage a townwide celebration in Santa Ynez in lieu of the annual Tortilla Day fete which has been set aside this year will be discussed at a meeting to be held next Tuesday night in the dining room of the J Bar M Drive Inn on Sagunto Street starting at 8 o'clock.

Members of Los Amigos de Santa Ynez recently voted to forego their annual sponsorship of Tortilla Day which is staged each year in June.

As a result, a group of other residents of the community and area have agreed to meet Tuesday to revive Old Santa Ynez Day.

With the exception of 1970 when Old Santa Ynez Day was held, Tortilla Day held forth each year from 1962 until last year.

A number of the same people who helped organize and hold the 1970 celebration will join for the meeting next week. Anyone else interested in attending is welcome, it was announced.

FB board to meet

A dinner meeting of the Santa Barbara County Farm Bureau board of directors will be held Tuesday night at Harry's Plaza Cafe in Santa Barbara.

Farm Bureau secretary Bob Hunt said the agenda will include special reports from the agricultural commission, farm adviser, district director, area field man, and Cal-Farm manager.

The session will start with a social hour at 6:30, dinner at 7 and the meeting at 8.

School board meets

An annual organizational meeting of the governing board of the College School District board of trustees will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the Santa Ynez School.

Rehearsals begin

Rehearsals are now under way nightly at the Solvang Festival Theater for the Santa Ynez Valley High School's presentation of "America, the Musical," to be presented at the theater the end of this month and the beginning of May, under the direction of Doug Stewart and Gerald Lanning.

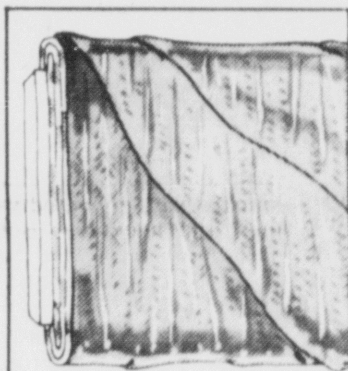

The presentation will follow a bicentennial theme with musical selections coming from famed Broadway productions.

The story line entails the visit by five young people to a science fair who find a musical time machine which enables them to capture the country's history through musical selections. The production is embellished with a number of dance routines.

Pros no longer a rookie gold mine

By MILTON RICHMAN
ATLANTA (UPI) — Timing is supposed to be everything in life, and if it is, Scott May of Indiana's NCAA champions has come along a couple of years too late.

Two years ago, he'd have been a cinch to have wound up an overnight millionaire.

Now things are different with the professional basketball owners in both leagues. They're pulling in their belts and putting the rubber band back on their bank rolls.

If the leagues have to spend any more big money, it'll be on established stars, they say, and not on any hot shot kids coming out of college.

Dave DeBusschere, the ABA commissioner, says his league may not even hold its annual draft this year because the owners want to develop and strengthen their teams internally. That's merely another way of saying the owners are tired of getting burned.

The feeling is the same in the NBA where any of the owners are ready to cite the case of Ken Durrett, a Jim McDaniels or an Ernie DiGregorio.

Durrett received a reported $2 million over five years and is now playing in the Eastern League.

McDaniels got $1.8 million over six years and was something less than a ball of fire with Seattle and Los Angeles before being let go. If his contract continues to be honored he must get $100,000 a year until 1990.

DiGregorio signed a five-year contract at $450,000 a year with the Buffalo Braves and was the rookie of the year in 1974 but a complete disaster this season.

Right now, Scott May is generally recognized as the finest professional basketball prospect in the country.

If the owners are cutting off the big money for rookies, and he's coming along a little too late, May doesn't seem overly worried about it.

"I'm not really interested in a whole lot of money," says the 22-year-old, 6-foot-7 forward from Sandusky, Ohio. "I'd like to play professional basketball. I'd love to play with the best players who ever lived, but I haven't talked to any agents yet. I'm just waiting. The main thing I want to do now is play on the Olympic team. I wouldn't sign a professional contract before I did that."

As UPI's college basketball player of the year, May received the Naismith Trophy Sunday night from the Atlanta Tipoff Club.

He still wasn't completely over the excitement of the Hoosiers' title victory over Michigan in Philadelphia a week ago.

Before the game, John Havlicek, a teammate of Indiana Coach Bobby Knight's at Ohio State, visited the Hoosiers to talk with them and May still can't get over that either.

"For him to take time to come to Philadelphia just to talk with us was beyond our imaginations," said May. "It was the first time I ever met him and it gave me a tremendous thrill. He said some of us would be playing our last game that night and if we went out there and just played the hardest we knew how for two hours, there was no way we could lose."

After Havlicek had finished talking to all the Indiana players, Scott May spoke with the Boston Celtics' star alone. They didn't talk about money, the pros or anything like that.

"All we talked about," said Scott May, "was basketball."

Conqs probe 'mystery'; Braves' stock rising

Cabrillo

Lompoc

By SCOTT OSTLER

The Righetti mystery will remain a mystery tomorrow, or so hope the Cabrillo Conqs.

Cabrillo (7-1) travels to Elks Field in Santa Maria to play the Warriors (1-7) at 3:30 p.m.

The mystery of Righetti is: what happened? A team with some fine athletes, a team that most of the league coaches knew would be contending for the pennant, won its first league game and has dropped the next seven.

"I'm not going to throw Righetti out," said Conq coach Bill Weber, who can't help but be looking forward, just a little, to Friday's game with Lompoc. "Every league team is tough in its own way."

Actually the Righetti mystery isn't a total mystery. The Warriors' pitching just hasn't come through. In their seven losses, Righetti pitchers have allowed an average of just under seven runs a game.

When the Warriors did finally get decent pitching last Friday, the offense laid down, as the Santa Maria Saints scored a 1-0 win.

It's been that kind of year for the Warriors. Their first game with the Conqs was a good example. Righetti led 5-0 going into the sixth inning and lost 6-5.

Weber will send Dan Petry to the mound tomorrow. The righthander is 2-1 in league play, and has had brief stints in two other league games.

While the Warriors have been doing nothing right, the Conqs can do no wrong. They maintained their league lead Friday with an 11-4 win over the San Luis Obispo Tigers in San Luis.

"I think we've been playing pretty good ball," said Weber, whose team is rated fifth in the CIF 3-A. Cabrillo hit double figures in runs for the first time in league, and pounded out 12 hits against San Luis.

The Conqs have had at least eight hits in each of their seven league wins, and they've had 25 hits in their last two games.

In the last four games, Blain Nelson has been 8-for-14. Mark Haley 5-for-13 and Ray Dahlmann 4-for-7. But the hottest hitter of all is Carlton Roberts, who is 8-for-14 in league. He has come to bat in seven games this season (one non-league), and has at least one hit in each of those seven.

Roberts, however, is also one of the few Conq worry spots. They bank on Carlton as their number one pitcher, and he's been having control problems. Last Tuesday, he walked seven batters in less than four innings, and Friday he walked four in a two-inning relief appearance.

It didn't hurt the Conqs, though, as they had a 7-0 lead before the Tigers scored their first runs in the fifth, off starter Eric Cannon.

Jim Dahlmann singled home two runs in the first inning. The Conqs made it 4-0 in the fourth as Ray Dahlmann and Roberts both walked, and came in to score on a passed ball and a squeeze bunt by Ken Clayton.

In the fifth, Roberts stroked a two-run double, scoring Nelson, who had doubled, and Ray D., who had walked. Mark Haley then tripled Roberts home.

Ray Dahlmann's single and an infield error sent two Conq runs home in the sixth, and Wayne Brown and Nelson drove home runs with seventh-inning hits.

A wild pitch on a third strike and a dropped fly got Cannon in trouble in the fifth. Petry finished the inning, and Roberts went the final two.

Jabbar honored

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar was presented with the Podoloff Trophy Sunday night as the National Basketball League's Most Valuable Player of the 1975-76 season.

NBA players vote on the honoree and are not allowed to vote on their own teammates.

Geiberger wins at Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — With Lee Trevino coming within one stroke of Al Geiberger in the Greater Greensboro Open, the leader felt he had to pull himself together.

"I had to talk to myself then and say, 'Hey, you're the leader, you're one stroke ahead, settle down,'" said Geiberger.

The tactic worked. On No. 16, the former PGA champion scored a birdie two. Trevino carded a par and that clinched it as both had pars on their last two holes.

Geiberger finished the final round with a three-under-par 68 and ended the tournament $46,000 richer, compliments of his 72-hole total of 268, 16 under par on the 6,643-yard, par 71 Sedgfield Country Club course.

Trevino was two strokes back at 270 and finished with a six-under-par 65.

Japanese wrestlers welcomed

By KEN MURPHY

A delegation of Japanese wrestlers and their coaches are picking up some local cultural and wrestling knowledge.

The eight wrestlers and three coaches, half of a 22-man athletic and cultural exchange group touring Southern and Central California, arrived in Lompoc Friday.

They wrestled a team of top central coast prep wrestlers Saturday at Lompoc High, and they'll conclude their 22-day stay in America tomorrow.

The wrestlers who visited Lompoc are ages 17-21. Their older counterparts are wrestling college-level competition in other cities.

The visiting wrestlers are essentially an all-star group from the Osaka area, and each wrestler is paying all his own expenses for the tour, including plane fare.

The Japanese delegation had to be impressed with the level of competition encountered Saturday in Lompoc.

"They were a little scared when they discovered we had four state champions," said Jerry Hamstad, match director. The Japanese wrestlers won their first two matches, over Ed Flemming (Royal) 13-3, and Dennis Katsuda (Lompoc) by a pin.

Then the state champs took over. John Smithson (Buena) scored a 12-3 win. Jay Fenke (Dos Pueblos) won 2-1. Scott Heaton (San Luis Obispo) pinned his foe, and Craig Troxler (Morro Bay) won 13-2. Cabrillo's Mark Hall and Dos Pueblos' Gary Fisher, another state champ, didn't get to wrestle because their Japanese opponents were injured earlier on the tour.

About 500 spectators turned out.

"There was some fine wrestling by both teams," said Hamstad. "We heard that they weren't going to have a real strong team, but they were very good. But competition is not the main goal. The cultural exchange is what's really important."

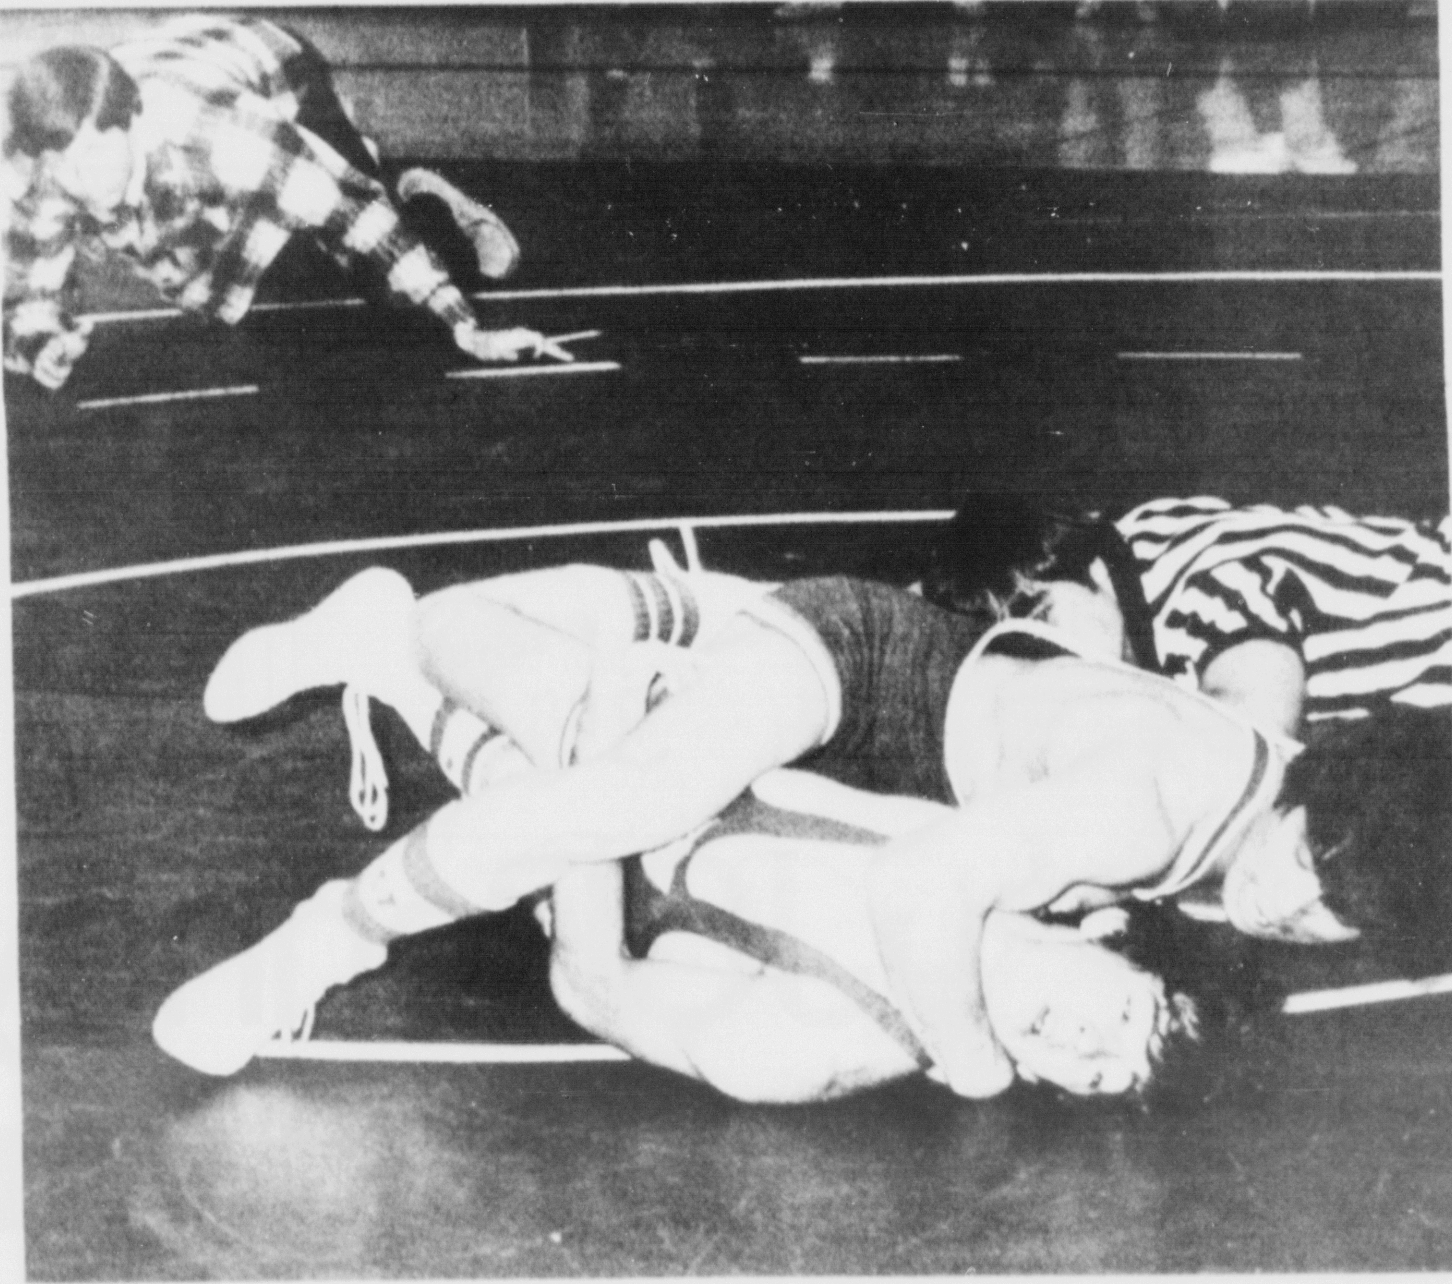

The Japanese team has seen Disneyland and San Francisco, among other sightseeing highlights.

And sightseeing is the main form of cultural exchange, since, in Lompoc at least, there is a large language barrier.

The visitors were treated to a Japanese cuisine, Lompoc style, when a group of local Japanese women prepared a special dinner at Foster's restaurant Sunday.

Before the group departs tomorrow, some of the wrestlers will visit classrooms at Lompoc and Cabrillo highs.

They'll leave Tuesday evening, meet the other half of their tour in L.A., and fly to Hawaii for a two-day stop before returning home.

Cavs copy Warriors; come up with winner

United Press International
Last season, the Golden State Warriors successfully muffled the star system that had been so prevalent in pro basketball in past years and uncovered the team concept — and it resulted in a shocking world championship.

Not one to let a good thing slide by, Cleveland Coach Bill Fitch decided team play might finally be the answer. After four last place finishes in his five years, Fitch was about ready to try anything.

Shuffling eight and nine players in and out of the line-up this season, the Cavaliers have bolted to their first playoff berth ever.

Cleveland routed the Atlanta Hawks, 120-92, Sunday to move into first place of the Central Division, one-half game ahead of Washington which lost to New Orleans 129-125.

The Cavaliers are so heavily wrapped up into team play this season that, more often than not, it is one of the nonstarters who leads Cleveland in scoring each game, as was the case against Atlanta.

Austin Carr, who backs up Dick Snyder and Jim Clemons at guard, came off the bench to pop home his season-high 27 points and lead all Cavs in scoring.

Jazz 129, Bullets 125

Ron Behagen scored six points in overtime to carry New Orleans after Pete Maravich, with a game-high 39 points, fouled out with 4:28 left in regulation time.

Braves 117, Celtics 114

Bob McAdoo scored 45 points and Jim McMillian added 32 to lead Buffalo over the home court Celtics. Boston was led by Jo Jo White with 24 points.

Pistons 101, 76ers 97

Bob Lanier scored 37 points and grabbed 20 rebounds as Detroit clinched a spot in the playoffs for the third straight year.

Knicks 115, Kings 95

Earl Monroe scored 22 points and five other Knicks joined him in double figures in handing Kansas City its 35th road loss in 40 games this season.

Suns 117, Sonics 89

Fred Brown hit for 33 points to lead Seattle to its 13th straight home victory and back into second place of the Pacific Division.

Lakers 118, Warriors 111

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 34 points and forward Cazzie Russell added 26 as Los Angeles kept its flickering playoff hopes alive.

Nets 136, Squires 103

Brian Taylor scored a career-high 40 points to give New York its 13th straight win at home. None of the Net starters with the exception of Taylor played after the first period.

Colonels 106, Spirits 105

Wil Jones and Maurice Lucas hit baskets and Artis Gilmore sank a free throw in overtime to give Kentucky the one-point victory in what was probably the last ABA game ever in St. Louis.

Nuggets 140, Pacers 134

Dan Issel scored 14 third quarter points and David Thompson's 26 points overall to help Denver end a two-game losing streak.

Brown seeks presidency to educate, not run country

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. says he doesn't want to be President to run the country, but to educate and lead the people toward their destiny.

"I don't think the President runs the country, nor do I think the governor runs the state," Brown told newsmen before the first of three private fund-raising events Sunday.

"Government is part of an overall, complex equation — social, economic and environmental.

"Within that limited framework, a leader can set a tone, can express a philosophy and can describe a future that is either consistent with what is possible or is not.

"That's what I'm going to try to do. The President has a tremendous responsibility as a leader, as an educator, as a describer of the destiny that we have and can find."

The first-term California governor later met with approximately 160 persons at a brunch here and two similar engagements in Los Angeles, and aides said he raised more than $35,000 in pledges for his fledgling Presidential campaign.

One spokesman said much of the money might be used to boost Brown's prospects in the May 18 primary in Maryland, where Baltimore County Executive Ted Ventoulis has reportedly promised to head the campaign if Brown will agree to tour the state for four or five days.

Several of those attending the three events have already pledged their support other candidates in California's June 8 primary, but apparently are considering either switching to Brown or pushing him for the second spot on the ticket.

Rep. Larry Kiploff, D-Calif., a supporter of Jimmy Carter, explained, "I'm supporting Brown for the office he's really running for — vice president."

During the news conference Brown insisted that his "native-son" campaign for the presidency is a serious one, but did not rule out running for vice president on a ticket headed by Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn.

Brown, saying he would speak later on specific issues, criticized the country's foreign policy as "sterile" and "reactive" and rejected metaphors comparing the world to a political chessboard.

"I think the world is more complex than that," he explained. "There are multiple, polar centers of influence that ought to be recognized, and kneejerk reactions and posturing and barking a lot such as in Angola was not right and undermines the strengths and credibility of our government."

In an apparent slap at Carter, Brown suggested that talk about streamlining and reorganizing government avoids the real campaign issues.

"Questions about whether government should be organized in a particular way or whether the boxes on the organization chart ought to be changed," he said, "are relatively superficial adjustments that will not affect the drift and the development of where the country goes."

He complained that current domestic policy "does not recognize the necessity of strong conservation measures, or the very serious problems of innovating people into the mainstream of our society who are still relegated to the backwaters by way of unemployment and restrictions in the job market."

Longer sentences urged for drug distributors

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) — The head of the Drug Enforcement Administration says judges are too lenient with major narcotics distributors and recommends longer sentences to help end the nation's drug traffic.

Peter Bensinger said Sunday that in one recent case "80 policemen fanned out over a three-county area in Southern California on a special joint task force linking DEA, the Los Angeles Police Department, Los Angeles sheriff and local police jurisdictions."

"Thirty-one persons, mostly major violators responsible for heroin reaching 46 states, were arrested," Bensinger told the midwinter conference of the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

"Although most of them had long records and were not gainfully employed, a federal magistrate let 19 of the defendants out on $500 personal cognizance bonds for offenses that could draw 15-year sentences."

He said he publicly denounced the decision and requested immediate remedial action. Acting on a motion from the Los Angeles U.S. attorney, a second judge issued warrants for the arrest of four of those released and ordered each of the remaining 15 to post $10,000 bond.

"It is time the public got better protection through serious sentencing," Bensinger said.

Nation's weather

United Press International

Thunderstorms soaked central and south Texas Sunday night and early today and frost warnings were posted for portions of Indiana and Illinois.

A total of 1.65 inches of rain was recorded in the six hours ending at 1 a.m. at Brownsville on the southeastern tip of Texas and College Station got nearly a half inch.

A weekend storm in Southern California left up to three inches of snow atop mountain peaks above 4,000 feet. The Los Angeles Civic Center got .28 of an inch of rain. Locally heavy downpours were reported in outlying communities and the Riverside-San Bernardino area had hail.

The weekend rains brought the season total in Los Angeles to 6.38 inches, about half of the normal precipitation for the date.

Tribute paid King on anniversary

ATLANTA (UPI) — The family of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. honored the slain civil rights leader in brief gravesite ceremonies on the eighth anniversary of his death.

Coretta Scott King and her children were among 10 persons who marched to the grave after Sunday morning services at Ebenezer Baptist Church.

Martin Luther King III, 19, carried the wreath in the one-block procession. King's 13-year-old daughter, Bernice, laid the wreath on her father's grave.

Statistics show economic upswings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government statistics continued to show economic upswings as the second quarter began.

Jobs rose to record levels, although unemployment still was high. Wholesale prices in all but foods showed increases which will be passed to consumers.

UNEMPLOYMENT: More Americans had jobs in March than ever before. The Labor Department said the unemployment rate fell 0.1 per cent, to 7.5 per cent, in February, lowest in more than a year. Total employed numbered 86.7 million, a record.

INFLATION: The Consumer Price Index, the measure of inflation, stood at 167.1 in February, meaning goods costing $100 in 1967 cost $167.10 now. The 0.1 per cent rise during February was the smallest since September, 1971. The inflation rate on an annual basis now stands at approximately 7 per cent.

WHOLESALE PRICES: The Wholesale Price Index stood at 179.8 per cent in March, 5.5 per cent higher than a year ago despite a decline in farm prices. This showed a resurgence of inflation in industrial and processed foods.

TRADE — The United States had its second straight monthly trade deficit in February, importing $140.8 million more than it exported.

INDICATORS: Index of leading business indicators rose 0.8 per cent in February, a substantial slowdown from January's revised increase of 1.5 per cent. The index, which charts the direction of the economy, has risen for four consecutive months but at 105.7 per cent remained far below its peak of 126.6 in mid-1973.

INDUSTRIAL OUTPUT: Production increased 0.6 per cent in February from the nation's mines, factories and utilities.

HOUSING: Starts of family dwellings were up a record 27 per cent over the previous month, welcome news for the hard-hit industry. February's starts were at 1.55 million, 63 per cent higher than a year ago and the largest one-month total in almost two years.

GNP: The Gross National Product rose 4.9 per cent in the last quarter of 1975 and stood at $1.216 trillion. Economists predict it will grow at 6 to 7 per cent most of 1976, enough to avert slipping back into recession.

Put homemade soap in automatic washer

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — Can anyone tell me how to make flaked or powdered homemade soap? My homemade bar soap is perfect (looks like cream colored fudge) but it is work to cut it into small pieces for quick dissolving. Any suggestions would be greatly appreciated.

I have used my homemade soap in my wringer type washer for years. But I now have a new automatic washer so I hesitate to use the homemade laundry soap in the automatic. I would like to hear of the experiences of others who may have done this. Because of the high prices of laundry soap and detergents I MUST continue to use my inexpensive homemade bar soap. It helps the budget tremendously and is very easy, quick and interesting to make. —LOUISE

DEAR LOUISE — I spoke with a company that has repaired washers of all types for many years and was advised that they see no reason why you cannot use the homemade soap in your automatic washer. Cut it up fine or grate it so it will dissolve more quickly. Experiment to find the correct amount of such soap to use but do not have more than one to one and a half inches of suds above the water level. —POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — If you print my Pet Peeve I will use the Polly Dollar to have my best slacks cleaned. The seat of the chair I sat on in a restaurant last night had not been cleaned before we were seated and when we returned home I discovered a green spot on my good slacks. Such a stain is even worse than the spot left when a seat has been wiped off and left wet. It seems restaurants could be more careful about such cleaning. —MRS. W.E.M.

DEAR POLLY — Several people have asked me how I keep my fiber glass shower so clean and white, so I thought some of the readers might like to know, too. I use white vinegar, a plastic scouring pad and a lot of scrubbing where the soap dries and coats the walls and floor. Of course, there are some women with husbands who wipe the walls and sliding doors after every shower but not mine. —MRS. F.L.W.

DEAR POLLY — With spring upon us many are thinking about bedding plants. I started mine this week in the bottom halves of different colored styrofoam egg cartons. I put about three seeds in each cup after they were filled with dirt. When all danger of frost has passed they can be easily removed from the carton cups and be transplanted out of doors. Now they look very pretty on the window sill until that time comes. —W.J.M.

DEAR POLLY — I read in the column about all the trouble with bugs. I was told to buy a dog's flea collar, cut it into pieces and keep them in my cupboard. It really works. Hope this does the same for others who may try it. —MRS. D.C.P.

James Earl Ray willing to risk new trial

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — James Earl Ray flashed a trace of a smile when he was asked the question through the bars of a dark cell barely large enough to hold his slender frame.

Why was he willing to risk the electric chair in a new trial rather than hope for an early parole?

"You've never been in prison, have you?" replied the man serving a 99-year sentence for the 1968 sniper slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

If Ray merely serves out his term, he will be eligible for parole 22 years from now. His sentence officially is scheduled to end April 29, 1979.

Ray receives no special treatment in Tennessee State Penitentiary. He spends his days working in the laundry or lying silently in his dingy cell with his face toward the wall.

According to Memphis attorney Robert Livingston, Ray may be the target of violence from others secretly responsible for King's assassination.

"I think he's in some danger," Livingston said recently. "Ray spoke up (about a conspiracy) in 1969, but they all chose to ignore him."

King was shot by a sniper as he stood on the balcony of a Memphis motel eight years ago. Ray originally pleaded guilty to the crime with the understanding he would escape the electric chair by doing so.

Now he claims lawyer Percy Foreman coerced him into the plea and that he did not pull the trigger on the rifle said to have been the murder weapon.

Ray consistently has refused to talk with reporters. But one recent day he reluctantly interrupted a nap to discuss an upcoming ruling by Cincinnati's 6th Circuit Court of Appeals that could allow him to stand trial.

"The ruling may come in five weeks or so," the softspoken, sandy-haired Ray said as he peered through the bars. Seeming in good mental and physical shape and looking younger than his 48 years, he apologetically refused to discuss his contention he was "set up" by one or more conspirators to take the blame for

DeFreeze convicted

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Carl DeFreeze, brother of slain Symbionese Liberation Army leader Donald "Cinque" DeFreeze, faces death in the electric chair or life in prison for killing a Cleveland bar owner.

DeFreeze, 22, of Cleveland, was found guilty during the weekend of aggravated murder, aggravated robbery and two counts of felonious assault. The verdict was handed down by a jury in the killing Dec. 27 of Jesse Smith, 63, owner of Bellman's Lounge. The judge in the case said it could be eight weeks before DeFreeze is sentenced.

King's death.

"I think it will all come out in court," he said. "Anything I say here now won't make any difference because it will be decided in court. And it seems to me it should be decided in court."

"I don't want to be tried in the press."

Livingston says Ray refuses to admit his life is in danger. He also says it may be the underlying reason for his client's

King tours

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sweden's King Carl XVI Gustaf turned his attention today from air and space to jobs and economic growth.

On his arrival in Washington Sunday, he was given a private tour of the almost-completed Air and Space Museum with its display of the machines which took Americans from Kitty Hawk to the moon in less than a century.

After a sightseeing tour of Washington attractions, Gustaf was to visit the daylong Swedish-American seminar on productivity at a downtown hotel.

Judy weds

CARPINTERIA, Calif. (UPI) — Actress Judy Norton, 18, who plays Mary Ellen on "The Waltons" television series, was married Sunday to singer Douglas Taylor, 27.

The wedding took place at a seaside ranch owned by Taylor's grandmother, former silent screen actress Olive Carey.

sealed lips.

"Of course he isn't going around naming addresses and telephone numbers (of conspirators)," the attorney said.

"Let's just say he cares not to die."

Livingston insists his client has a chance of acquittal if federal judges will grant him a trial.

"If we come to trial, the burden will be on the state of Tennessee to produce evidence to prove him guilty," he said.

"Their evidence is circumstantial at best and I think we can punch holes in it."

Ray, who has said he has nothing against King and had never seen him, admitted the rifle was his. But he said he was not near the motel when the shot was fired and heard of the murder only as he drove toward Mississippi.

He said he panicked when he heard he was wanted for murder and began a flight which ended in his arrest in England on June 5, 1968.

I don't know how much life insurance you need

Chances are you don't know either. But I can help you find the answer.

How? My contribution is to custom-tailor a program of protection at a cost you can reasonably afford. And to use every available tool to do the job.

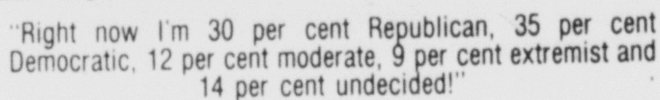

Isn't this what you'd expect today from your insurance man?

Crime

Sheriff John Carpenter recently released some interesting information concerning the rising number of crimes.

Many explanations have been offered for the continued increases in crimes, the sheriff reports. Many of these relate to socioeconomic factors such as poverty, discrimination, overcrowding and unemployment. There is, however, no definitive data that shows a casual relationship between crime and human environmental factors.

Carpenter states that it is true that many criminals are poor and, or, are members of minority groups. It is also true, however, that most poor people and most members of minority groups are not criminals. Recent polls also show that the poor and members of minority groups are also the most supportive of strict law enforcement. Further, crime has shown its highest increases during periods of generally rising prosperity.

Carpenter states that the one theory about the rising number of crimes that is supported by definitive data is that the rise in crimes is due to the increasing numbers of people in the most crime-prone group, ages 15 to 24. In recent years, persons of age 15 to 24 have accounted for over 75 per cent of all serious crimes, but constituted only 27 per cent of the total population. Age 18 has been the most crime-prone single age.

According to a recent county census, Carpenter states that this data has great significance for local law enforcement. According to the census figures and assuming that juvenile crime rate remains relatively constant, the total number of juvenile crimes should begin to drop starting this year. This will occur because of the decreasing number of juveniles. By 1979, there will be 22 per cent less persons age 15 to 18 than in 1975. For one age group alone, by 1985, there will be 35 per cent fewer 17-year-olds than there were in 1975. In theory, at least, this should mean that crimes by juveniles have reached their peak.

A second item of significance is that there will probably be continued increases in the number of crimes committed by adults until at least 1981. At that time, the peak year group will have reached age 24 and, theoretically, will begin to pass out of the most crime-prone age group.

Such changes in the age distribution of the population will have an effect on all elements of the criminal justice system: investigation and apprehension, detention, prosecution, courts, probation and confinement agencies. Carpenter claims that given the present age distribution, and assuming no major changes in either the operation of the criminal justice system or present standards of morality, the number of crimes and adult case loads will continue to increase at least through 1981.

The last picture show

I don't know when perspective is going to set in, but until it does, read me, pray, out of that fraternity of self-adulators who surround Woodward and Bernstein as the exemplars of a new journalism fired by ethical concern. I haven't seen the movie, but it is an ironic masterstroke that it should star Robert Redford. The last time out on the boards, Redford was a CIA agent who was finally revolted by his profession. Now he is born again, unburdened of doubts. I Was A Spy For Woodward & Bernstein. And Found Out All About Pat Nixon's Sex Life.

Attempt, for a moment, to recapture perspective. A gang of over-zealous Republican pols decide they should find out what is going on in Democratic headquarters, and to that end organize a team to burglarize those offices and bring out information that might be politically useful. The end result of that attempted invasion of the professional privacy of Lawrence O'Brien was a dozen people in jail, and the resignation of a President of the United States, the first time in history.

The reputation, meanwhile, of the only prominent surviving Cabinet member of that Administration has been under constant attack because he had a hand — how direct, we do not know — in expediting a dozen telephone taps that sought to isolate the sources of leaks of national security information. It is ceaselessly pointed out by the critics that one or two of the people whose telephones were tapped were in no visible way connected with national security matters, giving rise to the possibility that a Republican Administration had a prurient interest in the private affairs of these men. Notwithstanding these events, about which the contention continues, one fact does stand out. It is that not a single personal detail about the lives of the tappees has ever seen public print. Mr. Morton Halperin is engaged in an extensive civil lawsuit against Henry Kissinger the abstract merits of which are here extraneous. It remains a fact that the public knows not a single thing about Morton Halperin's sex life, his religious habits, his alcoholic intake, or even whether, at night, he is given to fantasizing conversations with Thomas Jefferson.

It is with this background that one judges the activities of the identical bunch of people identified with the investigation that brought down a President — featuring their invasions of privacy. The difference between Richard Nixon and Mrs. Graham is that he was an unsuccessful snoop with a finite curiosity about human weaknesses, while she, as employer and now as purveyor, is sponsor of successful snoops, whose curiosity is entirely unlimited. Perhaps their imagination is as unlimited as their prurience.

We cannot know how much of the current garbage about Richard Nixon has been fabricated. It hardly matters. It matters very much that Nixon has to skulk out the rest of his life in San Clemente, while those who receive the Pulitzer Prizes and the Woman of the Century Awards take out advertising space telling you how, by merely buying their product, you can learn everything about the private lives of Richard and Patricia Nixon.

It is alleged that, on that final evening, after he had reported to the American people that on the very next day, at noon, he would resign the Presidency of the United States, Richard Nixon called Henry Kissinger to the White House. Kissinger — it is said — saw a broken man. It is not clear what else he might have been expected to see. And that Richard Nixon turned to Kissinger and expressed himself as an imperfect Christian, even as Kissinger was an imperfect Jew, and suggested that they go down on their knees, and pray for help.

One gathers that this is the act from which one is encouraged to deduce that Nixon was really bonkers. Praying! On your knees! I mean, it's not what the British call PLU (People Like Us). The profiteers of this last go around against Nixon had better get down on their knees and pray that the Lord is infinitely merciful, because if He is anything less than that, they are in trouble.

Golden age of Amtrak

WASHINGTON — The golden age of railroads is not yet over for the corporate moguls who run Amtrak. The evidence can be found in their expense accounts.

Congress established Amtrak in 1971 to manage the nation's passenger rail system. The original intent was to subsidize Amtrak from only five years. Thereafter, Amtrak was expected to break even.

At the end of the fifth year, however, the railroad is still deep in the red. Last year's loss was a painful $352 million. And just last week, Amtrak executives trekked up to Capitol Hill to ask for another $633 million subsidy.

Yet this staggering deficit, apparently, has had no restraining effect on the railroad bosses. They continue to squander the taxpayers' subsidies with reckless abandon.

They pamper themselves outrageously, using Amtrak funds to subsidize their lavish living habits. Here are the details from their expense vouchers:

Amtrak's president, Paul H. Reistrup, draws an annual $85,000 salary. The 11 vice presidents are also paid an adequate $50,000 a year on the average. This ought to be enough for them to struggle along on.

Yet the railroad has just provided them with brand-new automobiles. They business expenses hit $49,000 last year, most of it for food and liquor. Reistrup spent $576.12 in September, for example, on candles, flowers, food and booze for a staff party.

In fact, Amtrak sometimes picks up the tab when its executives simply go out for cocktails. A corporate vice president, Calvin Andringa, took Reistrup to a favorite pub. Another time, Andringa invited the vice chairman, Mary Head, out for drinks. The bills were charged to Amtrak which pays them, of course, with taxpayers' money.

From the same bounteous source, the railroad also pays Reistrup's membership dues at various elegant clubs, including the Army-Navy Country Club and downtown Army-Navy Club in Washington area and the Athletic Club in Chicago.

Last year, Amtrak shelled out $600 so that a vice president, Harold Graham, could belong to the posh Kenwood Country Club in the Washington suburbs.

Amtrak is trying to persuade the public to ride the rails, but its executives don't always heed their own advertising. Last year, the company laid out a startling $812,574 for air travel, even though its executives are entitled to ride the rails free of charge.

The general counsel, Nathaniel Goodrich, flew between Washington and New York, Washington and Pittsburgh, New York and Boston — which have excellent Amtrak service. A vice president, David Watts, also shuttled between Washington and New York by plane. We found vouchers, charging for first-class air fare from Washington to Norfolk, Va.

The wining and dining of government officials is a major industry in Washington. According to the vouchers, few favor-seekers entertain more generously than do the Amtrak crowd.

One vice president, Bruce Pike, turned in an expense account of $6,550.50 last year for entertaining Washington bigwigs. The names of his guests aren't listed, only the charges. Amtrak concedes that his "effectiveness would be impeded" if he disclosed the names of the federal officials he wines and dines.

The expense vouchers reveal, however, that Reistrup threw a brunch last December. Among the prominent guests was Federal Railroad Administration's chief, Asaph Hall, who helps decide how much government money Amtrak will get. Reistrup's invitation list also contains the names of two Congressmen, Silvio Conte, R-Mass., and Fred Rooney, D-Pa., who have an influential voice in transportation matters. Rooney said he didn't go; Conte didn't return our calls.

We found other names on Amtrak's expense accounts, including Sen. Robert Morgan, D-N.C., Deputy Transportation Secretary John Barnum and Interstate Commerce Commissioner Charles Clapp.

The vouchers of Amtrak vice president Edwin Edelman indicate that he entertained White House aide Russ Rourke on three separate occasions. Once, Edelman ran up a $100 bill at the Annapolis Yacht Club supposedly entertaining Rourke, his wife and an Iranian diplomat.

Yet the White House aide told us he never got any of the free entertainment.

Edelman blames his sloppy record-keeping for the erroneous vouchers, saying Rourke was invited but canceled out.

Last year, a group of congressional aides inspected Amtrak's operations. The railroad served them free dinner and cocktails. These favors for Washington bigwigs have been small — nothing so gross that the officials could be accused of being bribed.

It is the accumulation, rather than any single gift, that gradually obligates them.

Footnote: Amtrak officials, to their credit, cooperated with our investigation. A spokesman said the club memberships are given only to executives who need them for official entertaining. The expenditures for food, liquor and entertainment, the spokesman said, helped to increase communication. Reistrup paid one-third of the cost of his brunch out of his own pocket. The spokesman also said that Amtrak officials fly only when absolutely necessary.

tionally illiterate."

The graduate students were baffled by the IRS "style, syntax and vague words as well as the complexity of sentences."

The professor then rewrote the IRS prose, simplifying and clarifying it. He took one 40-word sentence and broke it into six sentences.

The students' scores jumped 25 per cent.

The professor claims that the average tax form uses a 10th grade vocabulary, but uses the words confusingly. In addition "many Americans cannot read as well as the average 10th grader — in fact a recent study reports that about 12 million Americans, age 14 or older, cannot even read as well as the average fourth grader."

The IRS itself concedes that 43 per cent of Americans pay someone else to prepare their taxes. Those who are driven to a tax consultant because they can't understand the forms are paying "an additional tax — a tax on a tax," the professor stated.

The professor submitted his findings to the IRS and suggested additional studies be made to make tax forms easier to understand.

Letters to the editor

Dear Sir:

Never did I believe the Lompoc school board would abide with their decision on the closing of the two schools with the tremendous opposition that confronted them. Although I do think they might be surprised how many people were in agreement with them and felt this was the only solution.

I want the S.O.S. to know many of us who started our children to school here twenty years ago realize their anxieties. Then, ten out of twelve years of school were in double session. Car pools had to be arranged or very small children had to be taught the responsibility of walking a long way to school. Busing and cross guards had not yet been created. So we know your frustration and that this is a trying time for you. But most important is the education of the children and I don't feel this will be impaired by the Board's decision.

Also, I would like to commend Dr. Hewes from the Lompoc hospital for his request for a decrease in salary. Anyone who saves the Taxpayers of Lompoc $30,000 a year has my thanks.

Sincerely,

Janette Learned

Dear Sir:

In regards to your recent letter concerning the initiation of radar equipment by the California Highway Patrol, it is my belief that those persons that foster such objections are precisely the reason why the CHP must resort to so-called "drastic" actions of radar on our roads today.

To these drivers, is it so onerous a task to read those 55 mph signs posted along our highways? Which are sufficient warning in themselves.

The only logical solution to help cure those afflicted with an "urge" to break the law, and for the law itself, that saves countless lives and gallons of fuel, is to have it changed. But until then, the law is the law.

Bud Andrews

Dear Harry:

With all the complaints from people we're reading about these days, how about a change of pace — a letter with nothing but praise and appreciation. As with so many projects in the Valley, the Lompoc Record has backed us — The Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce Flag Project — from beginning to end and we're most grateful. Appreciation to the city crews and crews from Vandenberg Air Force Base who installed the flag brackets and placed the flags and very special thanks to Bill Ruffner and Bob Livingston for all their time spent in coordinating this project with me.

The project is completed — the flags are flying. If but a few people in our Valley will pause to look at the flags, reflect back on our heritage and perhaps be grateful for where we are, what we are, then we will have accomplished more than we set out to do when this project was started.
